Report of the Corinth Presbyterian Church AC to the Miami Valley Presbytery

The congregation has been meeting for two months in their new location in the fellowship hall of Ohmer Park United Methodist Church. They have worked hard to create a nice worship space and continue to work on tweaking issues with technology. Their giving has been strong for two months. The spirit of the congregation is positive. Their monthly community meals have been well attended.

The AC is working alongside the committees and Pastor Cynthia Holder Rich to prepare to return original jurisdiction. Specific steps and proposed dates have been identified to reach that goal. Two of three committees have been approved to begin working independently of the AC. The congregation is participating in a stewardship campaign this month that will allow a 2027 budget to be prepared. Bylaws regarding numbers of elders and deacons will be presented for approval at a congregational meeting on November 15. There will also be a Nominating Committee presented for election at that meeting.

The auction of the buildings on Corinth Blvd. yielded $96,000. The result of the auction of the contents is not yet available. We've been told that the Christian Education building will be used by the new buyer for some type of school/educational facility. While we are happy to hear of the intended use of the building, and pleased that it sold, there is a little disappointment amongst the congregation that it didn't bring more money in.

We would ask for you to continue to pray for Corinth Presbyterian Church as they hold their stewardship campaign and prepare a budget, as officers are nominated, trained and elected, for their worship to continue to bless and inspire, and for their community meals to reach folks in their neighborhood who are food insecure. We would ask for your continued prayers for the AC as we carry on our work alongside Corinth Presbyterian Church.
